OUR LADY OF PERPETUAL HELP

Dedication

To our Mother of Perpetual Help, who has been our Patron Saint during our three years of training, and without whose guidance and protection, we would not be graduating as a class, we lovingly dedicate our yearbook.

We have drawn on your strength in our weaker moments, and under your guidance we have advanced in maturity during the past three years.

It is our hope that you will continue to watch over us and protect us as we now go out into the world to practise our chosen profession. We pray that with your help, we may miss no opportunity to give of ourselves for others.

BISHOP'S RESIDENCE
480 MCINTYRE ST. W.
NORTH BAY, ONTARIO

To the Editors,
Marymount School of Nursing Year Book,
Sudbury General Hospital,
SUDBURY, Ontario.

My dear Students:

With each passing year the Nursing Profession must, of necessity, extend its horizons to meet the challenges presented to it by the ever increasing progress in the fields of medical science and technology.

It is evident then that the pursuit of knowledge and diligence in study are fundamental in the life of the student and graduate nurse as well. Your pursuit of learning must not stop with graduation, so too you must never cease to grow in the realization that your ministrations to the sick, if animated by the love of Christ, may often be the means whereby the Divine Physician will recall to himself an ailing soul.

With my paternal blessing and wishing you the greatest degree of success as you begin your nursing careers, I remain,

Devotedly yours in Christ,

Alexander Carter,
Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie.

Message from Sister Superior

Dear Graduates of 1962:

Congratulations on your success from the Sisters and Staff of the Sudbury General Hospital of the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

We recognize the role of the nurse has become more demanding of time and talent, of dedication and spiritual growth than ever before.

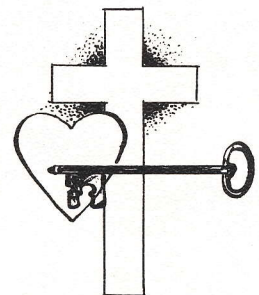

The early hours of your careers will probably be filled with seeming satisfaction but "fatigue" and the rigours of science will teach you that the initiation that you received needs now the support of greater learning both in the field of science and in the sacred art of understanding and responding to the human heart.

Activity subjected to deep scrutiny is the key to spiritual growth. The strength to grow and the courage to persist requires the support of hope.

It is our prayer that you will have the ability to respond to your exalted profession.

Sister Jane Frances

Administrator

SISTER ST. LOUIS
DIRECTOR OF NURSING

Greetings from Sister St. Louis

My Dear Graduates:

Three years ago, as applicants to the Marymount School of Nursing, you were eager yet hesitant—eager to begin a noble service, hesitant at the results of the pre-entrance tests, you wondered if you would "make the grade."

Throughout the months of your course, with the acquisition of knowledge, the perfecting of skills, the assuming of professional responsibilities, you have been challenged in many different ways. Your faith in yourself, in human nature, possibly in God, has been tested, and your eyes have been opened to more significant test results, of a professional and spiritual nature.

And now, as a loyal, enthusiastic class, you prepare to leave the school—or should I say—to face other tests. You will be tested by your Provincial Association, by your future employer, and by life itself. It is my earnest prayer that your attitudes will continue to be positive, your efforts generous and your results fruitful.

Thus may your strivings be crowned with success by your Final Examiner.

SISTER ST. LOUIS
Director of Nursing.

Greetings from

Sister Marion

Dear Graduates of 1962:

As your basic course in Nursing Education draws to a close, it is well to reflect for a moment on the life of service to which you have committed yourselves.

The qualities of a good nurse are graphically portrayed in the parable of the Good Samaritan —

He is interested — the priest and levite pass by but the Samaritan stops to help the injured man.

He is compassionate — he interrupts his own journey to show compassion.

He is skilfull — he binds the man's wounds, pouring on oil and wine.

He understands the need for future care so he provides this by paying the innkeeper to take care of the man. He does all of this not only for a stranger but for one who was considered his enemy.

Let your nursing service in the days ahead be clothed with interest in the sick, with compassion for their needs, with provision for their total care, with the realization that nursing embraces all humanity.

May your reward be "the happiness which belongs only to those who know how to seek, and find "how to serve"."

SISTER MARION
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF NURSING SERVICE

SISTER MARION,

Assistant Director of Nursing Service

Greetings from

Miss Clayton

With the passing of another year, we have reached the time in a School of Nursing which brings happiness and sadness. Happiness because you now experience the joy of having realized your objective; sadness because you are leaving your school and classmates who have become very dear to you through the sharing of satisfactions and disappointments.

As eager young graduates you join a group which at the moment is struggling to find its place among the professions and to define the role of a Nurse. Today we find ourselves asking over and over again, "As a professional Nurse — what is my relationship to the patient? What is implied by the statement — Nursing is not what it used to be?"

The struggle which we are experiencing need not change the basic concepts regarding responsibility to the patient nor the reasons for choosing nursing as our vocation, since the common bond among nurses is the belief that man, because he was created by God, merits supreme love and understanding. Such belief enables the nurse to gain a feeling of warmth and joy in her relationship with the patient.

This is the true reward of Nursing, experienced by those who maintain constant contact with the Divine Source of all Love.

Sincerely,
NORMA CLAYTON,

Assistant Director of Nursing Education

MISS NORMA CLAYTON

In Memoriam

The guiding star of the Community of the Sisters of St. Joseph no longer sheds its light on earth — Reverend Mother St. Bride, whose guiding hand was responsible for the tremendous growth of this Community, has been called to her eternal reward.

Indeed her light did shine upon men, so that the Eternal Father was glorified by them.

We of Marymount have received much from this beloved Reverend Mother. For a very brief time, we had the privilege of having Reverend Mother as a patient in our hospital. Memories of her courage, her sympathy, her selflessness, her interest in other patients, are very much alive in the hearts of our medical and nursing staffs.

May He, whose cross she bore with consuming love, exchange that cross for a crown of glory, richly merited by a life of complete dedication.

May she rest in peace

Greetings from Mrs. Lynch

Dear Students:

On behalf of the Women's Auxiliary of your Hospital, it is my privilege and pleasure to extend greetings to you—the graduates of 1962. Hearty congratulations, and the very best of happiness and success in your chosen career.

Yours is a noble profession—to minister to the sick and to comfort the afflicted. Today the individual is being lost sight of and is being submerged in an anonymous collectivity. In your calling you cannot but be impressed with the importance of the person.

Sickness is a personal matter, and the sick person looks to three individuals for help—God, to his doctor and to his nurse.

You are the trustee of both the patient and the physician. By carefully carrying out the latter's instructions you will often help save lives, and when the sands of life are running out, you can give comfort and contribute to that spiritual calm which makes the final journey less terrifying.

Through the guidance and inspiration of the Sisters of St. Joseph, we feel sure you will continue to be a credit to humanity.

May God bless you all.

Faithfully yours,

MRS. M. J. LYNCH,
President of Women's Auxiliary.

MRS. M. J. LYNCH
PRESIDENT OF WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

MRS. M. RONDINA
PRESIDENT OF MARYMOUNT SCHOOL OF NURSING
ALUMNAE

Greetings from Mrs. Rondina

On behalf of the Marymount School of Nursing Alumnae I would like to extend to the Class of '62 heartiest congratulations.

The modern world cries for leadership. Greater men must meet the challenge of greater problems and forces. The future of tomorrow's world lies in the potentiality of today's graduates.

MRS. M. RONDINA,
President of Marymount School of Nursing Alumnae.

Greetings from Mr. Browning

To the Graduating Class 1962,

May we wish you the success and happiness being experienced by those who have graduated before you, and express the hope that you will be ever mindful of the contribution made to your knowledge, skill and welfare by the Sisters of the hospital and the teaching staff of the Marymount School of Nursing.

Yours very truly,

GORDON E. BROWNING,

Editorial

Three years of student activities have been successfully completed. As each of us goes our separate way, we will carry with us memories of many experiences which we can relive while leafing through the pages of this book. We will recapture the peace of the chapel, the laughter of our classmates, the gaiety of our dances and parties, and the excitement of graduation.

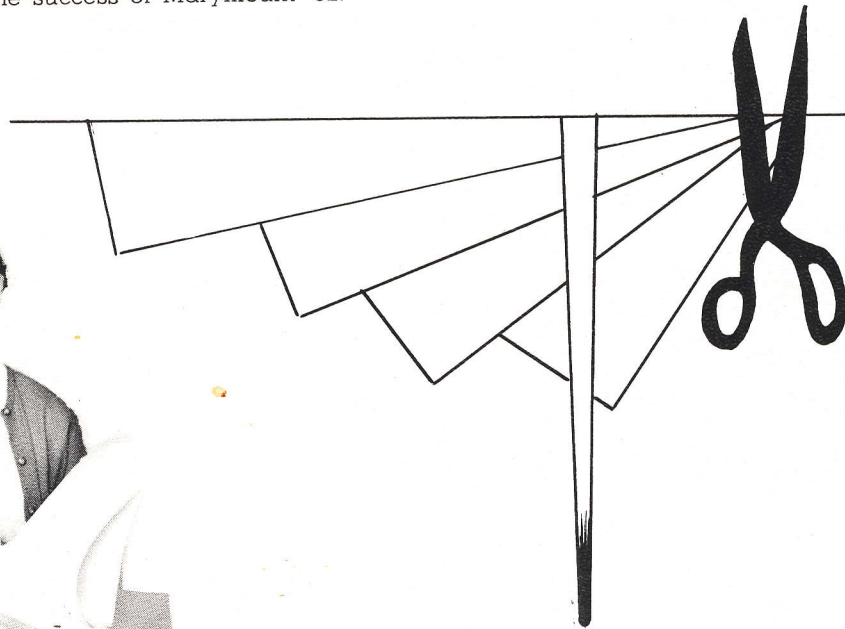

Most of all, we will remember our Alma Mater and its motto, "Serve the Lord with Joy" the ultimate goal of our training.

We are very grateful to Mr. Ross for giving of his valuable time to help us, to Rigo Peloso for his excellent photography, and to Peter Verkaik for his assistance in the assembling of our book.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to the Year Book staff and to all persons who in any way contributed to the success of Marymount '62.

Graduation . . . a dream

. . . a swift reality

. . . then . . . the penumbra of a memory.

Graduation was a dream. Three years ago, we entered the Marymount School of Nursing to acquire a knowledge of the moral, spiritual, practical and scientific care of the sick. In return for this teaching, we were to bring with us Youth, Health, Enthusiasm, Basic education, refinement, sympathy, a good reasoning power, and above all, a conscience. With these ingredients began the process of educating a potential nurse.

Hospital life was strange and yet exciting. It was suggestive of a whole new aspect of living. As time progressed, we realized that the hospital, as a building, was an inanimate thing, a structure of stone and steel, and that the personnel in it was of flesh and blood. We soon came to know that the three great dramas of life . . . birth, death and human happiness . . . depend so much on the resourcefulness and understanding of this personnel.

The epitome of these three years can best be captured in casual experience. Briefly we fit like

. . . wisdom with a hypo in our hands,
. . . pride when we made a sick child laugh,
. . . wonder at the presence of a newborn.

We knew that we were

. . . slowest when you hurried us,
. . . quietest when you scolded us,
. . . most efficient when you praised us,
. . . that a smile 'Laughter's Whisper' and a ready assistance could lift a heavy heart and ease an anxious mind.

Did you know that a student nurse making a bed for the first time has five thumbs on each hand? We knew!

Our classmates have played a necessary role in our nursing achievements.

"When we travel hand in hand
The way is paved with smiles
Many ruts are taken from
The long and weary miles."

We have found nothing better to keep a class working together than the class itself. A Unity of Endeavour is most rewarding. Together we have attempted to "Serve the Lord with Joy" in evidence that "No other Love could warm our hearts."

The emotional attachments, so evident today, have a tendency to slip into the past. The persistent links, those made of faith, supported by hope, and united by Divine Love, should and need never be broken. Each one's silence, laughter, and encouragement will long be remembered.

We hope that qualities of warmth, sincerity and true Christian charity have permeated our activities here and will continue to do so. This life of service proclaims that Jesus, the Healer, still lives in us and through us. Our love and God's love mutually dwell in the temple of our hearts. This is the seed that can permeate our being.

As Christ received His Father's Love and with this love effected God's design so we too, can complete this design. Just as the true Christian strives naturally toward the good and the truth and lives up to God's Commandments so, we, as Christian Nurses, if we open ourselves to the Divine Physician, strive naturally towards the standards that have shown us these past three years.

More than ever, this day, we realize that a student develops as a Nurse only as she develops as a person. We look back gratefully on experiences because of the realization that they have helped us become mature, responsible, thinking young women.

Graduation . . . a swift reality -

Now that our previous goal is an actuality, our hearts are filled with one of the greatest happiness' we have ever known.

It is a reality but it must be more than the culmination of three years, more than a chronological fulfillment. It must be an Epiphany — a manifestation — Yes, a reality, but not because we can see that the colour of our bands has changed from blue to grey and now to black, but because we can see the significance of these past three years, because we can see what standards we should strive for tomorrow. Today, then, is a cognitio in our drama of existence.

Years ago, the nurse to us was glamorous and heroic — a Florence Nightingale — in her starched white uniform and cap with its black band. This same cap with its coveted marking has come to mean so much more to us. Beneath this band, we earnestly seek to find and to maintain a mind, with which to think, a heart whose pulse gives life, and a body whose hands and feet carry out the dictates of mind and heart.

All this joy and sense of accomplishment could not have been possible without you.

To Sister Jane Frances, our Administrator, and to the Sisters of St. Joseph, we owe gratitude unending. You had the task of making nurses out of high school students and women out of girls.

It is difficult to find words that will convey our deep sentiments of gratitude to our Director of Nursing, Sister St. Louis. May we say that we will always have with us the happy memory of your loyal, zealous competency. You have been a guide to perfection and most of all, a Friend.

Our Teachers, Head Nurses and Graduate Nurses, we thank you for the guidance you gave us; for the wisdom, gained by experience, which you shared with us and for the patience you displayed with us.

To the Doctors who tolerated us in our ignorance, corrected us in our mistakes and who encouraged us to perfect our skills, we thank you today.

Taking this opportunity, I would like to express our appreciation to our Housemothers who "bore with us" for three long years. Our teen-age ambivalence must have been the cause of much wonderment, concern and patience for you. We are grateful for your understanding.

Mom . . . Dad . . . the unsung heroes of our lives, who restore confidence, offer encouragement and deflate swelled heads in their special way. You displayed love for us countless times; you were proud of us in our triumphs; you were anxious with us on our "first days". How well you offer the tangibles and intangibles of love! You have been perfect guardians of the life you created together, showing us always that charity is not selective but that it embraces all mankind. We pray that our children someday will be as proud of us as we are of you. May we repay you by being the kind of Nurse you would want us to be.

Graduation . . . then . . . the penumbra of a Memory.

1962, in our minds described the future as a mountain top obscured by mist. Now, as this year slips over the horizon, let us look forward with courage to our new fields of endeavour.

May we continue to be stimulated by the challenges of Nursing and of Life remembering that . . .

"This earth is one vast hospital, a synthesis of pain."

Each graduate will be master of her own destiny! In common, however, we must maintain a high level of personal integrity, moral character, devotion to duty and trust in God.

As the members of this class reflect on Graduation Day, may we be reminded of the goals we have set for ourselves today.

Will the light of this epiphany delineate into a mere shadow?

Will what we hope and feel today, become a dim reflection tomorrow?

Will the fiery zeal fade into a dying ember or even an ash?

Will we become part of the inanimate structure of a hospital?

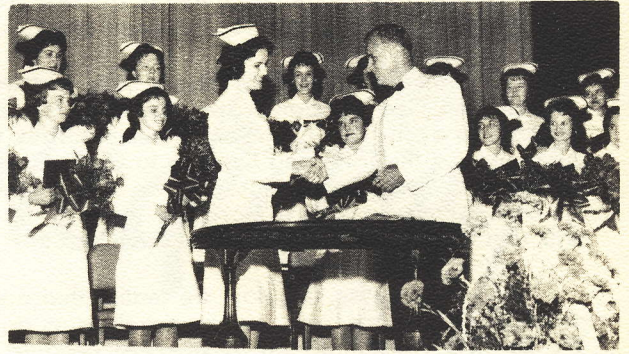

These are the questions which may haunt us tomorrow! Lack of motivation is a threat to our ideals today! The path we choose . . . whether it be Detoriation or Perfection . . . determines the goal which is finally ours.

May our future in nursing be enlightened by the glow provided on this Graduation Day — and may this light of hope, no matter how threatened by the winds of mediocrity and carelessness, be a beacon to urge us on to even greater challenges in the nursing profession.
